

WellDyneRx® Reaching Finals of URAC Accreditation Program

Centennial, CO – December 17, 2008 – WellDyneRx is proud to announce it has reached the final stages of achieving URAC Pharmacy Benefit Management Accreditation. The process of receiving accreditation from URAC is a rigorous review of best practices and standards. WellDyneRx has voluntarily undertaken this initiative to continue to improve the quality of their pharmacy benefit offering.

“We are committed to being the best we can be. Applying for this type of accreditation is a chance to challenge our organization to do just that,” states Mike Woodley, Vice President of Pharmacy Operations. “Over the last several months, we have examined our entire way of doing business to ensure we are meeting or exceeding the standards expected of our industry.”

URAC was tasked with outlining PBM standards and best practices to help ensure quality throughout the industry. URAC is generally considered the leader in promoting health care quality through accreditation and certification programs. The standards developed for the PBM industry represent a wide range of industry practices including such areas as organizational integrity, customer service, communications, disclosure, pharmacy distribution channels, drug use management, and formulary administration.

“We welcome the opportunity to demonstrate our commitment to quality, integrity and innovation in all our business practices,” said Susan Cain, Chief Operating Officer. “We are committed to constant improvement that delivers the innovative solutions our customers’ value.”
